WORK OF BANDITS.

Express Train Robbed by Six Masked Men.

HELD UP NEAR ST. LOUIS, MO.

The Robbers Secure Over Fifteen Thousand Dollars—The Old Story of Dynamite and Guns, Messengers Overpowered and Safe Cracked.

St. Louis, Dec. 2.—One of the most daring train robberies that has occurred for years was perpetrated on the St. Louis and San Francisco road almost within the limits of St. Louis Monday night. When passenger train No. 3 on that road left the depot Monday night at 8:25 o'clock it was just twenty-five minutes late.

The limits of the city had been passed and the engine was just preparing to make up for lost time, when three men, who had boarded the train at Old Orchard, climbed over the water tank and coal and covered the fireman and engineer with revolvers. The engineer was ordered to stop the train near Glendale, and as an additional inducement to him to obey orders, three men who were in the ambush at that point opened fire on the train with rifles, but whether they succeeded in wounding any one has not been learned.

When the train had been brought to a standstill the engineer and fireman were ordered down from the cab, and after detaching two of the band to keep guard over them, the other four men started back for the express car in which was the safe of the Adams Express company, containing about $15,000.

Messenger Mulrenen, who was in charge of the car, had observed the slacking up of the train and had opened the door of the car to see what the matter was. Suspecting that something was wrong and becoming suspicious of the men he saw advancing toward him he hurriedly closed and secured the door just as the men reached it. The robbers first tried to induce him to open it, and failing tried to pry it open, but the stout door foiled all their efforts, and after spending about ten minutes in this work they put a charge of dynamite under the door and blew it open.

As soon as the door was broken the four men leaped into it. Messenger Mulrenen made a brave resistance, but the robbers turned on him and after beating him into a condition of passivity with the butts of their revolvers began operations on the safe. This did not long resist their attacks, and after rifling it of its contents the guard was called off and the sextette of desperadoes took to the woods. The men were all masked and had evidently planned their work well, as each one seemed to know exactly what to do, and but a few words were spoken during the entire operation.

Immediately on receipt of the news a special train well manned with officers was sent to the scene.

During the time the train was stopped at Glendale some of the train men and passengers attempted to come to the assistance of the engineer and messenger, but the guard placed over the former covered each side of the train with their rifles and warned them back on pain of death.

Everything in the safe was taken and also the messenger's gold watch and chain. Superintendent Damsel, of the express company, says it will be several days before the exact amount can be ascertained.

While two of the robbers were doing the work at the express car, the other four bandits kept the remainder of the train crew and passengers in a state of terror, a constant fusillade being kept up all the while. A more reckless set of robbers probably never undertook similar work. Fourteen shots were fired into the smoking car, but fortunately none of its inmates were hurt.

On the south side of the track about 150 yards from where the robbery occurred is a wagon road running through a strip of woods. Along this road the detectives who went to the scene found the fresh tracks of a horse and wagon coming towards St. Louis. The railroad officials believe that one of the robbers is a railroad man, as he is said to have instructed the fireman to not put any more coal in the furnace. The only description of the robbers obtained is of the two that climbed into the engine. One of them was a young man, tall, light complexion, and heavy mustache; the other had a dark complexion, dark clothing, about five feet six, a sinister-looking eye, very quick in motion, and both wore light overcoats.

Express Messenger Mulrenen was seriously injured in the hip by the explosion and battered about the head by the butt ends of revolvers in the hands of the robbers.

A large posse is making a search for the bandits, and the city officers are straining every nerve to uncover the hiding place of the outlaws.

About five years ago a train was held up and robbed at about the same place, near Glendale.

TOLEDO, O., Dec. 2.—Another victim was added to the death list of Saturday's wreck in the person of Mrs. Nelson, who died at noon yesterday, making nine deaths from the disaster.

The coroner continued his investigation yesterday and examined Conductor Hunter and brakeman Hall, of the Flint and Pere Marquette train, but their testimony developed nothing beyond that given by the engineer and fireman Monday.

Conductor Hall, of the Lake Shore train, was examined, but was a very unwilling witness, evading almost every question. His only positive answer was that his tail light was burning brightly, and that he did not see the coming train until just before it struck his train.

CHILDREN AND KENRICK.

The Golden Jubilee Service Continued at St. Louis.

St. Louis, Dec. 2.—The Catholic children of this city yesterday paid their tribute of honor to his grace Archbishop Kenrick. The children's tribute was as beautiful and touching as the church's was stately and impressive. The children's jubilee service was held in the grand music hall of the exposition building. From churches, from schools, from orphan and blind asylums, from convents and from many charitable institutions of the church came the children. They had gathered at all those rallying points early in the day before 8 o'clock, and by that hour they were marching on the exposition thousands strong.

It was an army marshaled by sweet-faced and low-voiced sisters in their robes of black and hoods of white, and by parish priests, under whose ministrations the children's "army of peace" had received its training. Every street was alive with children, bright with banners, musical with youthful voices. The vast music hall was elaborately decorated. The great stage at the northern end of the hall had been transformed into a rising tier of seats, capable of accommodating hundreds, and above it and at either side the papal and national flags and banners were suspended.

The venerable Archbishop Kenrick occupied a handsomely upholstered chair near the center of the stage and his countenance beamed with love and happiness as he gazed out on the sea of bright and happy faces that were turned toward him from the parquette and gallery in the immense auditorium. Occupying seats on the stage were Archbishop Ryan, of Philadelphia; Bishop Keane, rector of the Washington university, and many distinguished prelates and laymen of the Catholic church. After the grand "Golden Jubilee March," composed for the occasion and beautifully rendered by the youthful band from the Christian Brothers' college, an interesting program of exercises, consisting of addresses and singing, was carried out.

Following this was splendidly rendered the Te Deum, and then Archbishop Ryan, on behalf of Archbishop Kenrick, made a short address, in which he expressed the gratitude of his grace for such a beautiful testimonial of affection from the children of his beloved St. Louis. At the conclusion of Archbishop Ryan's address, his grace, Archbishop Kenrick, bestowed his blessing upon the children. The children then sang a hymn of praise, and at its conclusion they filed out of the building, and in orderly manner repaired to their respective homes, schools and asylums.

In the evening the music hall in the exposition was crowded from gallery to orchestra with men and women of the Catholic faith who voiced their love and reverence in addresses and speeches and songs. Many of the other beliefs were also present, for Archbishop Kenrick's good works have not been bounded by his religious faith.

PRIEST WITH A REVOLVER.

He Deliberately Fires Three Shots at a Gang of Workmen.

New York, Dec. 2.—Trouble has been brewing for some time between Father Kirwan, pastor of St. Mary's church, of East Orange, and officials of the projected electric railroad, which is now in course of construction. Poles for the operation of the road are being put in position and, as the system is to run through the thoroughfare in which the church is located, it was found necessary to erect poles in front of the church property. Father Kirwan decidedly objected to this, but the officials of the new road were determined that they should go up.

Early yesterday morning a gang of workmen went to the church and immediately began to set the poles in position, working, of course, as noiseless as possible, but the priest was evidently expecting such a move, for the men had not proceeded far with their work when he appeared at the window of his residence, pistol in hand, and deliberately fired three shots at the gang of workmen. His aim, however, was poor and no one was injured. There is great excitement in the town over the affair.

Sugar Refinery Shuts Down.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 2.—The sugar refinery at Curtis bay shut down yesterday for an indefinite period. Three hundred workmen are thrown out of employment. The sugar trust recently secured a controlling interest in this refinery, and it was then stated that the purchase was made with a view to closing up the works. This was vigorously denied by the directors, and they explain yesterday's action as being necessary in order that the plant may be enlarged. The improvements will cost $300,000 and require three months for completion.

Mysterious Death.

EATON, O., Dec. 2.—William Murray, a farmer near Camden, this county, died yesterday evening under circumstances which indicate self-destruction by poison. His father was found about two weeks ago in an unconscious condition and died a few moments after. There were grave suspicions that foul play had been used. A coroner's inquest resulted in a verdict of neglect and exposure, and it is the opinion that the son, in a delirium of remorse, got away with himself.

Daring Robbery.

WEST UNION, O., Dec. 2.—Mrs. Elizabeth Simmons, aged seventy-nine, her son, Isaiah, and a daughter, live near Tranquility, on a farm. Last Saturday the son was met in a barn by three masked men and securely tied. The daughter was tied to a post in the yard, while the mother was bound and gagged in the house. The robbers then ransacked the room and found $3,000 in two cans in the sitting room. The family are confident that they know the robbers.

DEAD LETTER OFFICE

LETTERS THAT NEVER CAME.

Nearly Seven Million Pieces of Mail Matter Received at the Dead Letter Office During the Past Year—Other Interesting Statistics Concerning Mail.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—The annual report of D. P. Liebhart, superintendent of the dead letter office, covering the operations during the past fiscal year, has been submitted to the postmaster general.

There were received during the year 6,829,460 pieces of original dead mail matter, an increase of 311,904 pieces over the previous fiscal year. In addition to this number there were also received 170,600 letters without valuable inclosures which had been returned to the writers, but failing of delivery were again sent to the dead letter office. These, together with the 287 letters held for postage and 4,035 letters of foreign origin on hand, make the total 7,004,382.

Of the unclaimed and undelivered mail matter received during the year 422,639 letters were misdirected; 65,943 being of foreign origin, while there was a decrease of 23,130 in those of domestic origin. The total number of letters entirely blank and without any superscription was 27,677, an increase of nearly 19 per cent. over 1890. Among them were frequently found letters of business men containing money, drafts, checks and other valuable commercial paper. Of the domestic letters misdirected, the addresses of 65,943 were corrected; 13,098 failing of delivery, were sent to the dead letter office.

The total number of letters "held for postage" was 104,673, an increase of nearly 5 per cent.; of these 42,648 were letters of fictitious addresses, and largely correspondence relating to what is known as "green goods," or "sawdust" swindles, many of them containing money for the purchase of these fraudulent goods. Of 80,153 domestic parcels containing jewelry, books, clothing, etc., 6,581 were misdirected, 17,428 were without addresses; 80,223 contained money, amounting in all to $47,983. Of these 21,183, containing $36,759, were delivered to owners, while 9,040 with $11,223 were undelivered.

Thirty thousand three hundred and twelve letters were found to contain drafts, checks, notes, deeds, mortgages, etc., representing $1,862,293, while 41,288 contained paid and canceled obligations; 3,166 contained lottery tickets, 74 per cent. of which were received during the first four months of the year, and were declared unavailable. Usually the dead letter office receives during the year something like 120,000 letters containing lottery tickets.

It is estimated that 2,000,000,000 ordinary domestic letters were sent through the mails during the past fiscal year. The total increase of all matter received in the dead letter office was but 311,000 pieces, while the increase in letters alone sent through the mails was nearly 150,000,000.

SPEAKERSHIP CONTEST.

Nothing Certain as to Who Will Be the Lucky Man.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—There was a business-like bustle about the headquarters of the various speakership candidates yesterday, new members were arriving constantly and a majority of them went to the headquarters of the candidates soon after they reached the city. The Metropolitan hotel, where Messrs. Crisp and McMillan are regularly established, and where Mr. Mills has a branch headquarters, was the scene of the liveliest interest, and, although there was no developments of a definite nature, gossip was plentiful and everybody seemed happy.

Mr. Mills spent most of the day at the Metropolitan, having practically transferred his headquarters from Willard's hotel. Representatives Sherman, Hoar, George and Williams of Massachusetts, were very prominent around the room occupied by Mr. Mills, and announced themselves as for the Texan first, last and all the time. Representative O'Neill, another Massachusetts Democrat, announced himself for Mr. Crisp. There is by no means a unanimity of opinion among the fourteen members of the New England Democratic delegation as to a candidate and a meeting of the members will be held at the residence of Representative Andrew for consultation as to the best policy for the delegation to pursue in the contest. It is believed that there will be no agreement to cast the solid vote for any one candidate.

Mr. Springer at the National and Mr. Hatch at Willards did not lack for company during the day. They had many visitors and confidence was expressed by their adherents equal to that of the Mills, Crisp and McMillan men. It is said that Mr. Springer has made a very favorable impression on several New England members and that he is their first choice.

Woman Shot Down on the Street.

JOHNSTOWN, N. Y., Dec. 2.—At 7 o'clock yesterday evening a carpenter named Charles F. Smith, met on the street Miss Welch, who, up to two weeks ago, had lived in his family, and asked her to return home with him. This she refused to do, whereupon he drew a revolver and fired a bullet into her head immediately back of the left ear. Smith attempted to fire another shot but was prevented by Miss Welch holding his upraised arm. Smith then ran away. Officers are looking for him. He has a wife and three children, but his infatuation for Miss Welch had rendered him truant to his marital vows. The woman, it is thought, may recover.

THE OHIO-INDIANA BOUNDARY.

It is a Zig-Zag Line and Not Over a Mile Wrong at Any Point.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 2.—Professor T. C. Mendenhall, of the United States coast and geodetic survey, and Secretary A. Graham, of the Ohio Historical society, who have been investigating the question as to the true location of the boundary line between Ohio and Indiana, Monday submitted their reports to Attorney General Watson and Governor Campbell. Professor Mendenhall has been acting under instructions from his department at Washington, while Secretary Graham was appointed by Governor Campbell to look up the records in behalf of this state. The reports were not made public, as Professor Mendenhall desires to show the Indiana authorities the courtesy of an official notification before the matter is given to the press. Enough was learned, however, to disprove the sensational statement made a few weeks ago that the present line was so far out of the way as to take Fort Wayne and other Indiana cities as far west into the boundaries of Ohio. The reports will show, however, that the line is somewhat crooked, and probably a mile too far east at some points and a similar distance too far west at others.

A peculiar fact was developed by the investigation. It was that no line dividing Ohio and Indiana was ever established. The accepted boundary was partly made in 1787 by a survey of the western boundaries of the extreme western townships of Ohio. This survey began at the mouth of the Miami river, near Cincinnati, and extended due north eighty-seven miles. A year or so later a survey was made by a company of settlers from the Michigan line south to the northern terminus of the line established by the survey of 1787. The people living along the supposed boundaries of the two states accepted the line established by these surveys as being genuine, and as such it has ever been regarded until the people of Union City last winter revived an old tradition to the effect that the line was too far east.

The calculations of Professor Mendenhall show that the line, which is the accepted boundary, is only incorrect in so far as the crude instruments in those days deviated from the proper direction. It is said that the needle in an old-time compass would occasionally slip sideways far enough to cause an error of several hundred yards within the distance of twenty or thirty miles. Taking this into consideration the present line may be a mile or so out of place. As Union City is divided by the present line, it may be taken into either state when a true line is established. Professor Mendenhall's report will recommend that the legislatures of the two states act in conjunction in taking proper action to re-establish a boundary line.

Reported to Governor Chase.

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 2.—The report of Professor T. C. Mendenhall, chief of the United States geodetic and coast survey, concerning the Indiana-Ohio boundary line was made to Governor Chase yesterday. It is a duplicate of that made to Governor Campbell at Columbus, Ohio. Ohio has disputed the correctness of the Indiana line, claiming that it was too far east of its proper place at the northern extremity of the state. The survey of Professor Mendenhall and assistants show that it is one mile east of its proper place at that point and converging to the proper point at the southern extremity. This would give Ohio nearly one hundred square miles of Indiana territory.

AN EVERY DAY OCCURRENCE.

Two Passenger Cars Smashed Up on the New York Central.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., Dec. 2.—A serious but remarkable railroad wreck occurred in front of the station on the New York Central road yesterday evening. There was a bad smashup of two passenger coaches, but there was no loss of life, though the wreck was complete.

The Chicago express which leaves New York city at 6 p. m. came along at a high rate of speed and crashed into a Croton local standing at the station. The collision was terrific, and the many persons around the station who witnessed the accident, expected to see scores of ill-fated people scattered about. The cars of the local train, consisting of two passenger coaches and a compartment car, were telescoped, and the locomotive was badly damaged and firmly wedged in the wreck of the local. The forward sleeper of the express was partly wrecked. The passengers of both trains, beyond a bad shaking up and a few slight bruises, were uninjured. Their escape is considered miraculous.

Head-End Collision.

CRAWFORDVILLE, Ind., Dec. 2.—A disastrous head-end collision occurred on the Monon railway, one mile north or here, at 9:30 yesterday morning. Both engines were demolished. Engineer Dad Henderson was badly injured and brakeman H. C. Modell slightly hurt. The balance of the crews luckily escaped with slight bruises. Misunderstanding of orders was the cause. The estimated damage is $25,000.

Young Lady Horribly Mangled.

XENIA, O., Dec. 2.—Annie Morris, a young girl employed in the Xenia twine works, got her head and face drawn against the flyer of a spinner by her fascinator catching in the machine. Her nose was torn off, her face badly bruised and one arm was broken in two places. Her condition is serious.

Miners Returning to Work.

ZANESVILLE, O., Dec. 2.—The 500 striking miners along the Cincinnati and Muskingum Valley railroad will probably begin work soon. Many have already begun at old wages, notwithstanding the action to stand for eighty cents per ton.

Starving Mexicans Riotous.

CITY OF MEXICO, Dec. 2.—Riots in the states of Durango and Zacatecas have been caused by the scarcity and high prices of food.

EVENING BULLETIN.

DAILY, EXCEPT SUNDAY.
ROSSER & MCCARTHY,
Proprietors.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1891.

CLEVELAND in '92 and Hill in '96. Such is said to be the present understanding among New York Democrats.

ONE need not be surprised at anything the Commercial Gazette does or says nowadays since it became a Foraker organ. It now says Senator Sherman and his friends are political assassins. What next?

THE Cincinnati Times-Star is a Republican paper but it is not a Tom Reed Republican. It says one of the first duties of the big Democratic majority in the House will be to denounce, trample upon and bury out of sight Reed's rules. The Maine autocrat will probably be given a dose of his own medicine before his obnoxious rules are "buried out of sight."

THE Covington Extra, a Republican paper, has this opinion of its party in Kentucky: "The indications at this writing are that the factional warfare will be on as usual among the Republicans of this State during the whole of the next National contest."

The Extra sees no disposition to heal the wounds. The factions are whetting their "razzers" for each other.

THE news from Frankfort is that Governor Brown will soon appoint his son, Dr. John Young Brown, First Assistant Superintendent of the Anchorage Asylum. The Doctor is First Vice President of the Kentucky Medical Association and is considered one of the ablest physicians of his age in the State. The Governor has been taking good care of his friends but this will be the first one of his relatives honored with a position.

SOME fellow over at Sharpsburg has evidently started out to ape Joe Mulhatten as a liar. Last week a special was sent from that place to the Courier-Journal stating that the town authorities were so puritanical they had prohibited the lighting of the street lamps on Sunday nights. F. S. Allen writes from Sharpsburg to the Bourbon News that there is no truth in the report, and he doesn't know how it originated. Joe Mulhatten has been jailed, but there are just lots of liars and fools yet loose.

THE colored contingent in the ranks of Kentucky Republicans are raising a racket because they are generally slighted when the "pie" is dished out. Collector Comingore, of Covington, has a big row on his hands, and Monday the colored Republicans of Lexington published an open letter to Postmaster J. H. Howard, asking him why he does not appoint a colored Republican letter-carrier. The colored men are deeply aggrieved over the postmaster's failure to do this, especially as he was a Captain in a colored regiment during the war.

ONE sensible Bluegrass beauty has been found. She is Miss Marietta Hawkins, of Bourbon, a young lady well known in Maysville, she having visited here on several occasions. The Louisville Times is engaged in advertising itself by publishing pictures and complimentary notices of Kentucky's pretty girls. A few days ago Miss Hawkins received a letter of request from the Times for her picture. The tabulated set of questions for her to answer accompanied the letter. She promptly refused to grant the paper's request, giving as her reason that the "Bluegrass belle" business was getting to be a chestnut, and she wasn't anxious for any such cheap notoriety.

GIBBONS-McATEE.

A Brilliant Wedding at Germantown, Followed By a Reception at Augusta.

The prominent social event of the season at Germantown was the brilliant wedding that occurred in that little city the evening of Thanksgiving day. The high contracting parties were Mr. William Morgan Gibbons, a prominent young tobacco merchant of Augusta, and Miss Mary B. McAttee, a beautiful and popular young lady of Fern Leaf.

The nuptials were celebrated at the Christian Church, Rev. P. H. Duncan pronouncing an impressive and appropriate ceremony, including the beautiful marriage ring service. The occasion was one of unusual interest, because of the great popularity of the young lady and elegance of arrangements. The decorations of the church were conspicuously handsome and tasteful, there being a splendid display of holly, mistletoe and white and yellow chrysanthemums.

Nearly five hundred invitations were sent out, and at the hour the bridal party arrived the church was well filled with friends from home and abroad. At the opening strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, rendered by Miss Georgia Harbeson, the ushers, Mr. Louis Smoot and Mr. Gibbons Knodler, passed singly down the two aisles toward the altar. They were followed by the attendants, Mr. L. Anderson and Miss Lily Smoot, Mr. William Talliferro and Miss Bower Knodler, Mr. A. Robbins and Miss Bettie Allen, and Mr. Benjamin Harbeson and Miss Alice Gibbons, advancing in the order mentioned, the ladies passing down the left aisle, the gentlemen passing down the right. To the music of the bride-elect on the arm of her "maid of honor," Miss Annie Knodler, immediately preceded by the officiating minister. Simultaneously the bridegroom on the arm of Mr. A. B. McAttee, the bride's brother, passed down the opposite aisle, the bride and bridegroom meeting at the altar. After the ceremony the bridal party passed out by two, gracefully keeping time to the beautiful strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin.

The bridal trousseau was elegant in the extreme. The dress was a rich broad crepe de chene, most beautiful and becoming to the bride. The toilets of the bridesmaids elicited the warmest admiration, and deserve more especial mention than time or space permit. The gentlemen were in full evening dress.

After the nuptial ceremonies at the church, the bridal party took carriages for Augusta, where a reception was given at the home of the bridegroom. The elegant home was magnificently adorned for the occasion, and a delightful collation was served, in a style well worthy the happy and important event. The mother of the bridegroom, assisted by some friends, presided most gracefully at the wedding feast.

The presents received were numerous, rare and beautiful. Such another array of bridal testimonials of remembrance and affection have rarely graced a wedding event in this community.

Chinese Points for Hosts.

"Don't eat with your ears," says Yuan Mel, a Chinese writer, "by which I mean do not aim at having extraordinary out of the way foods, just to astonish your guests. For that is to eat with your ears, not with your mouth. Bean curd, if good, is actually nicer than bird's nest. And better than sea slugs, which are not first rate, is a dish of bamboo shoots."

"The chicken, the pig, the fish and the duck, these are the four heroes of the table. Sea slugs and bird's nest have no characteristic flavors of their own. They are but usurpers in the house. I once dined with a friend who gave us birds' nests in bowls like vats, holding each about four ounces of the plain boiled article. The other guests applauded vigorously, but I smiled and said, I came here to eat bird's nest, not to take delivery of it wholesale."—Temple Bar.

How to Acquire a Foreign Vocabulary.
Perhaps one of the best ways of fixing the words and idioms of a language in one's mind is to teach them to somebody else. The learner should try to impart to some member of his family what he has already mastered. He should, above all, seek command first of words in familiar use, leaving to a later stage of his progress the forms of literary expressions; his first business is with the common objects of daily life, his last business is with general terms. As he sits at his desk he ought to be able to name every article about him, just as when he is riding in the street car or on the railway he should be able to mentally recall the equivalent for every detail in the moving panorama of objects.—Boston Herald.

Frosted Glass.

The frosty appearance of glass which we often use when it is desirable to keep out the sun or for a protection against inquisitive eyes, is brought about by using a paint composed as follows:

Sugar of lead, well ground in oil, applied as other paint, then pounded while fresh with a wad of batting, held between the thumb and finger, after which it is allowed to partially dry. Then with a straight edge laid upon the sash you run along by the side of it with a stick sharpened to the width of the line you wish to appear between the diamonds, figures or squares into which you choose to lay it off.—Detroit Free Press.

A Little Brute.

Nearsighted Lady.—The boy who is trying to tie that tin can to that poor dog's tail ought to be thrashed within an inch of his life—the horrid little brute.

Maid.—It's your boy, mum.
"My boy?"
"Yes, mum."

A Tribute to the Frog.

The bullfrog is a combination of piscatorial, venatorial and aquatic delights. From his cradle to his grave he is an ornament and an honor to the land. There is fine sport in the hunting of him and the eating of him, and it is both policy and justice to protect him from the onslaughts of rival and foreign bullfrogs.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

A Poetic Child.

My oldest boy, who has not yet reached the mature age of three, has, I think, a poetic way of expressing himself. Thus the other day, on noticing the ripples on the lake in Central park, caused by the wind, he exclaimed, "Mamma, look; see how the water is laughing."—New York Cor. Babyhood.

Cloth and Paper Made from One Tree.
The paper tree of the South seas is a species of the mulberry. Its inner bark is so delicate that a soft and pleasant feeling cloth is made from it, which the natives use in making their "best suits." It is also used in the manufacture of a very fine grade of paper.—Philadelphia Times.

In the abysses of the oceans, below 500 fathoms, many animals have either imperfect eyes or none. Their condition in this regard affords a suggestive parallel to that of cave life, and the causes are probably the same. Science is of the opinion that all deep sea life originally emigrated from the shallows.

A truthful citizen of Cordele, Ga., caught a rabbit with a gold watch chain around his neck, and he has since been coaxing the animal to put him on the trail of the rabbit that has the watch.

Mr. Marcellus Hamlin and Miss Dorcas Wear were quietly married at her uncle's, Mr. Alex Hughes, November 25.

Mr. J. Trisler entertained quite a number of friends Sunday evening, among them Mr. Fred Ring and family, Mr. J. L. Kirkland and family, Mr. Ellis Mattingly and wife, John Anderson and wife and Miss Belle Trisler.

MAYSVILLE.

Bring in your spare ribs, back bones and sausage, but be sure and leave some meat on the bones.

Jonas Myall went to Cincinnati last week to attend the lectures on embalming, and on other business.

Mr. Enos Myall made his second hog killing last Monday. Killed 22 and had everything cleaned up by noon.

We are passing through a cold snap of weather: Had some of the beautiful snow last week and plenty of ice, and ground frozen.

For the best boot in town for the least money, call on J. A. Jackson, who keeps a full line also of the "Bull Dog" pants and drawers.

John W. Lucas, of Georgetown, the contractor of the new church at this place, came over last week to settle with the committee and other parties.

Frank Layman and wife left last week to visit their daughter, Mrs. Turner, who lives at Turner Station, Henry County. They returned home Saturday.

J. O. Pickrel, traveling for Kaeley & McDougle, of Maysville, was stopping at the Stonewall House last Monday and Tuesday, with a big stock of Christmas goods, selling to everybody except the blacksmiths.

GERMANTOWN.

Miss Biddle Harris and John Sheeler visited Washington on Sunday.

Quite a company of our young people attended church at Hebron on Sunday morning.

One of our most highly esteemed young ladies came near losing her life, by experimenting with chloroform on last Friday.

Miss Hattie Erlon, one of our loveliest and most accomplished young ladies, engaged in teaching at Powersville, spent Sunday with her sisters, Misses Nannie and Ida.

Mrs. W. F. Pollock gave a birthday party in honor of her son, Horace, last week. The numerous guests were handsomely received and delightfully entertained by his sister Daisy, in her usual graceful manner.

Your correspondent in company with some lady friends attended Hebron church Thanksgiving day and heard a splendid and appropriate sermon by Rev. Wright of Maysville. After services we accepted an invitation to dine with the preachers and other friends at the hospitable home of Henry Norris, Esq., where the day was passed in social enjoyment with many thanks to the Giver of all good and especially for housewives who can get up such magnificent dinners.

TOLLESBORO.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Ruggles, a girl.

R. A. Stubblefield was at Rectorville Monday.

T. H. Ruggles was in Augusta on business Tuesday.

T. H. Hamrick will move to his new house this week.

A. B. Grigsby was in Maysville on business Monday.

A. B. Grigsby has returned home from Cincinnati.

Chas. Applegate has moved in the house with Wm. Meats.

Claud Rummans has been engaged as clerk at J. M. Hawley's.

Rev. T. B. Stratton is holding a protracted meeting at Concord.

J. M. Hawley passed through here en route for Cincinnati Monday.

Assessor Jack Hendrickson is at the county seat this week copying his list.

Mrs. Wm. Bowman and daughter, Miss Stella, will visit friends in Ohio this week.

S. K. Parker and wife were visiting the family of D. A. Cadwallader one day last week.

J. M. Hawley has rented the storeroom of the I. O. O. F. here for a period of five years.

Miss "Pet" Lyons, who has been teaching school on Kinney, returned home last week.

Rev. J. W. Bullock, of Middleborough, was visiting his half brother, J. W. Boyd, last week.

J. Nes Tenger and Hall Pollitt were shaking hands with their many friends here on Saturday evening.

Mrs. B. P. Anno, of Rectorville, and a lady friend from Indianapolis, were calling on friends here Sunday.

We are pleased to announce that Mr. J. W. Boyd, who has been seriously ill for some time past, is improving.

Some of our young men were at the Gypsy camp having their future, past and present revealed to them on Sunday last.

A surprise party was enjoyed by our young people at the residence of Mrs. Susan Tenger on Tuesday evening of last week.

J. T. Worthington will run a hack from here via Poplar Flat to intercept with the T. and V. stage at Herring hill, during Circuit Court at Vancuburg.

J. M. Gray, who has for some time past been associated with J. M. Hawley as salesman, has resigned his position. Mr. Hawley loses a No. 1 man thereby.

Rev. Morgan, pastor of the M. E. Church, South, at this place, preached an interesting and instructive discourse at the above church on Thanksgiving.

H. C. Barkley and a party of friends were slaying rabbits, birds and "sich" near here one day last week; as a consequence the price of game has advanced 2 or 3 cents.

While monkeying with a gun in Hawley's store on Thanksgiving day, Colonel T. B. Wingford succeeded in shooting a hole through the front window of the store large enough to crawl through. Fortunately no one was in range and the only damage done was to the window, and the Colonel's nerves.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.

When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,

When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,

When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

No sportsmen would do without it after using one. Call and see it. Frank Owens Hardware Company have the sale of them.

THE Kansas City Times says: "Beach & Bowers' minstrel performance is more like a genuine burnt cork entertainment than anything of the kind seen here this season. While not claiming the earth, the entertainment gives better satisfaction than many so-called 'mastodons,' 'champions' and other specialty shows masquerading as minstrels." At the opera house here next Friday night.

ABOUT 9 o'clock Monday night, while St. Lawrence was at Augusta, the first mate, John Thompson, became engaged in a difficulty with a colored deckhand named Gaines, when the roustabout slashed Thompson in the neck with a razor, making an ugly cut about six inches long, and just missing the jugular vein. The assailant made his escape. Thompson's wound is serious, but not fatal.

CAPTAIN PHISTER's handsome new ferryboat Laurence arrived this morning at 11 o'clock, and met with an enthusiastic reception from the old Gretna Green, Bob Prichard and other boats in the harbor. All of them turned their whistles loose. A large crowd was on the Front street "myrandy" to take a look at the new steamer and most of them was given a free ride to the Fifth ward landing and back. A description of the new boat will be given to-morrow.

Railway News.

The breathing of a locomotive—as the short, sharp puffing sound is called—is governed entirely by the circumference of the driving wheels. At every revolution there are just four puffs.

The third annual report of Interstate Commerce Commission shows that the railway mileage in the United States on June 30, 1890, was 163,587 miles; the increase in railway mileage brought into operation during the year was 6,030 miles. The total length of tracks in the United States, including all sidings and spurs, is 209,060 miles. The number of railway corporations on June 30, 1890, was 1,797. The 156,404 miles of line, which is made the basis of statistics in this report, is represented by railway capital to the amount of $9,459,444,172, which is equivalent to $60,481 per mile of line. The total capitalization of railway property in the United States would be $9,894,483,400. There were seventy-four companies in the United States whose gross income in 1890 was $837,000,000, out of a total gross income of all the roads in the country of $1,051,877,632.

River News.

The new Pomeroy packet Telegraph will be out next Friday or the following Tuesday sure, says Commodore Keck.

Due up: Bonanza at 9 p. m. and City of Madison and Stanley at midnight. Down: St. Lawrence and Keystone State this evening and Bostona to-night.

A special from Gallipolis says: "Captain C. M. Phister is delighted with his new ferryboat Laurence. On her trial trip Monday she made the remarkable time of twelve miles per hour. She is a complete success in every respect."

Captain Wm. Bay's steel-hull steamer, built by the firm of M. A. Sweeney & Brother, in Jeffersonville, was launched Monday. The craft, when completed, will cost about $20,000, and will ply between Ironton and Huntington, a distance of twenty miles, and it is the intention of her owner to cover the distance in one hour's time. The boat's dimensions are: 120 feet long; 18 feet beam; 6½ feet hold. She is to have twin screws, 4½ feet in diameter, with 7 feet pitch.

THE SEVENTIETH
